SPOON IN FAVOR WITH TURKS

Subjects of the Sultan Have Little Use for the Fork as a Table Utensil.

According to figures compiled by the American Cutlery bureau of information, the average yearly requirements of Constantinople before the war in the way of cutlery were 30,000 dozens of table knives, 30,000 dozens of spoons, 20,000 dozens of forks, 50,000 dozens of scissors, 25,000 dozens of razors of all kinds and 5,000 dozens of hair clippers.

As will be seen, much more spoons are sold than forks, which is contrary to the experience in other countries where, as a rule, more forks are required than spoons. This is explained by the fact that Constantinople supplies great quantities of cutlery to Asia Minor and other outlying regions of the former Turkish empire, where table manners still have not been developed up to the standard of Paris.

The Arab is fond of the spoon, because it is handy in eating his cereals, but he prefers to deal with chop by way of the fingers, which is a more simple procedure than piercing one's eye with a fork.

So it is the spoon that stands on the top of the list of the cutlery orders coming from Turkey to Uncle Sam.

It is conceded in all foreign countries today that American table cutlery holds the center of the stage in point of quality.

PUT HUBBY IN BAD LIGHT

Matter of Mistaken Identity Promised to Make Things Warm for Entirely Innocent Man.

A certain resident of Indianapolis, who is one of twins, in company with his wife and son, visited his twin brother, who lives in the northern part of the city. The family was returning home and had just reached Washington and Illinois streets when the wife saw the car, to which they were to transfer, rounding the corner.

"Oh, here comes our car," she said, and regardless of the conductor's familiar warning, "Wait till the car stops, lady," she jumped off backward, alighting with considerable force on the pavement. Refusing to give the car crew her name and address the family hurried home.

The next morning an auto stopped in front of the brother's home and an inspector, motorman, conductor and a policeman who had witnessed the mishap of the night before knocked on the door and asked the condition of the woman who had fallen. The brother's wife volunteered the information that no one there had fallen from a car. After an argument one of the car crew remarked, "Well, if some woman living here didn't fall off my car, then her husband was out with someone who did."—Indianapolis News.

Mongoose in Trinidad.

The mongoose was originally introduced into Trinidad from St. Lucia for the purpose of ridding the island of both rats and snakes, but at the present time it is itself considered a very serious pest. Moreover the sugar production of Trinidad has diminished somewhat during the last few years, chiefly because of the ravages of frog-hoppers, since the lizards, which formerly kept them in check, are being exterminated by the mongoose. In fact, many estate owners in Trinidad pay a shilling a head for every mongoose destroyed on their estates and many thousands are destroyed every year without any attempt being made to save the skins. Consul Baker, therefore, suggests that possibly these mongoose skins might have considerable economic utility in the United States, and has forwarded a sample of such a skin to the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce, where it may be examined by interested persons.

His Narrow Escape.

Clarence and his nurse were promading along the veranda at the summer resort hotel. A woman stopped them to speak to the pretty child, and on hearing how he had accidentally rolled down the hotel steps, was profuse in sympathetic exclamations. "O, dear! O, what a narrow escape!" etc. Clarence enjoyed her admiring sympathy so much that he added another flight of steps to the tumble when he related the episode to the next woman. By the time he reached the end of the veranda he had improved his story by rolling from the top floor of the hotel clear down to the steps outside the veranda, finishing off with:

"And I came near cracking my skull, too."

Mere Mediocrity.

"I used to think I possessed the artistic temperament—the sacred fire; but I was mistaken. I'm just one among the millions of common people."

"You have no right to say that! You have done some splendid things—things that you could not possibly have done if you had merely been one among the millions of common people."

"No, you're mistaken. I'm just an ordinary every-day man. Why, my wife has lived with me for 11 years without ever once thinking of getting a divorce!"

Scientific Research.

"Why are you studying those snails so intently?"

"Scientific research."

"Huh?"

"I didn't think there could be anything slower than the horse I bet on yesterday."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

TRACE JAZZ MUSIC TO CHINA

Book of Ceremonies of That Country Deals With Musical Criticism to the Point.

The hunt for the origin of jazz has led to the African jungle and to the music of cannibal feasts and orgiastic dances. But, further back it can be traced to the beginnings of civilization in China itself. Confucius, who lived nearly 2,500 years ago, edited a book of ceremonies called the "Li Ki." The book of ceremonies was a venerable Chinese classic long before Confucius gave his attention to it. The sayings in the "Li Ki" represent a viewpoint of musical criticism in China which perhaps corresponds to the date assigned by the Jewish chronology for the Garden of Eden. The "Li Ki" describes music as a powerful influence for good or evil, and pictures the prehistoric syncretism as follows:

"The airs of Kang go to wild excess and debauch the mind; those of Sung speak of slothful indolence and of women and submerge the mind; those of Wei are strenuous and fast and perplex the mind; and those of Khl are violent and depraved and make the mind arrogant. The airs of these four states all stimulate libidinous desire and are injurious to virtue."

If not jazz, what else falls in with the description? Kang, Sung, Wei and Khl—all their scores have been lost. Only the monotonous drum beat which they doubtless contributed to prehistoric jazz remains in modern Chinese music.—Toledo News-Bee.

THE LANGUAGE OF FLOWERS

It Dates Back to the Time of the Ancient Romans, and Probably Is Much Older.

It was a custom of the Romans to paint a rose on the ceiling of the banquet hall, signifying that what was told at the feast was not to be repeated. From this custom originated the expression, sub rosa, the Detroit News relates.

The rose is the queen of love and beauty and is the most eloquent of all in the language of the flowers. The red rose is a token of love and the white of purity. A moss rosebud is a confession of love, while a rose leaf says, "You may love." A white rose signifies, "I am worthy of you," and the yellow rose asks, "Are you jealous?"

The yellow buttercup is dedicated to the memories of childhood and riches. The Greeks and Romans used a variety of buttercup as a remedy for leprosy. It was also said that the root was a sure cure for insanity if it was gathered at the wane of the moon, wrapped in linen and carried around the neck of the afflicted person.

Pained and Surprised.

At the time it was more painful than funny, but the years leave only a recollection of my intense surprise when I bit into what I thought was a bright red apple.

Always I had loved apples, and one day when I saw a dish of bright red objects in the pantry, I took a couple of the largest, and silently left the house—with what happy anticipation. Safe in the back yard I proceeded to take a large bite of a red pepper. Such shrill screams of agony as reached my mother's ears. She rushed to the rescue to find me, not content with having filled my mouth with the fiery pepper, rubbing frantically at my face and eyes.

Not knowing that oil and not water should be used to remove the burning sensation, she dumped me into the bathtub, and started to scour. It was many a week before I again appropriated what did not belong to me.—Exchange.

Electric Hatching of Chicks.

A third of a million chickens a season is the proposed capacity which a customer of the Electric Power company of Portland, Ore., intends to attain in his electrically operated chicken farm known as "Henacres." His output this season will be in the neighborhood of 100,000 chickens, as compared with 45,000 for last year. This farm started with one small electric incubator in 1915 and now is equipped to operate on a large scale, having a single incubator with a capacity of 20,000 eggs. The total connected load for this plant consists of 33.5 kilowatts of heating and 3 kilowatts of lighting. For emergency service, continues the Electrical Review, a 20-kilowatt direct current generator is installed at the farm and is so arranged that it may be driven from the owner's truck.

Magic Carpet Up to Date.

A plan for seeing strange sights comes from France, in the announcement of the Compagnie Latécoere. This aerial line will take you from Toulouse, at 8:30 a. m., over the Pyrenees to Barcelona, Spain, by lunch time. Next day you lunch at Malaga, then fly across the Mediterranean to Tangiers. Then you sail above the Atlas mountains to far-away Rabat, a green oasis of the Sahara, or even to Fez, where it is said the company has opened the grand visitor's palace as a hotel. There are indeed the days of magic carpet and the seven-league boots to those who fear not adventure in the air!—The Outlook.

Wanted His Money's Worth.

Mother—Helen's music teacher seems quite impressed with her. It looks to me like a love affair.
Father—What's that! Now see here, I'll have that young man understand he's got to do his courting evenings and not while I'm paying him $2 an hour.
